To those who are interested in fine Horses:

FRED DIXON, (12,888.)

Is a rich seal brown horse, 161 hands high and weighs 1,200 pounds, a nice stepper, kind and gentle. Sired by Monarch Jr. 2241, dam Jess Dixon 2251. She is the dam of John Dixon 2255, Consort 2251, Miss Dixon 2246, all by Monarch Jr. and also of Mark Dixon who was sold last season for $5,000.00. Her foal of last year was sold by Messrs Sutherland and Benjamin of Saginaw for $1,000.00 so that you will readily see that he is from a strain of producers as well as performers. His colts are all uniform in color dark brown, very large and stylish with long arched necks and will make fine carriage horses which are now the only class of horses that will sell. FRED DIXON will make the season in this vicinity. For terms and route see small bills later.

Liquor Dealers.

Prosecuting Attorney Avery has issued the following, which will explain itself:

To the Retail Liquor Dealers, St. Clair County

Mich:

GENTLEMEN:—I am satisfied that there will be no material change in the present liquor tax law by the present legislature. The old law requires $300 tax for the sale of brewed or malt liquors and $500 for brewed and malt spirituous and vinous liquors.

The year commences on Monday next. We must take the law as we find it and that without reference to the future legislation. Should any changes be made in the law requiring a less tax or a greater one proper relief will undoubtedly be provided in the act itself.

All persons doing business without paying the tax now required by the law on or after Monday May 1st, 1893, subject themselves to prosecution. I earnestly hope all dealers will comply with the law by filing bonds and paying the tax required.

All dealers paying the tax required are entitled to the protection of the law and will receive it, and all those who violate the law by continuing in business after May 1st, 1893, without paying the tax required, will be prosecuted and the tax collected.

Do not delay paying your tax because of contemplated legislation at Lansing.

I sincerely hope all will comply with the law and that I will not be called on to prosecute any one. Remember that your tax is due and payable on May 1st, 1893.

Yours truly,

LIXON AVERY,

Prosecuting Attorney.

Additional Locals.

The Pastor and members of the M. E.

church feel thankful, and take this mode of expressing their thanks to all the kind friends who took part and assisted in the "Old District School" and Dr. Mitchell says that he cannot find words to express his thanks and satisfaction for the cordial and happy support that he received from every member of the school each one vying with the others to see who could be the most prompt and help the old teacher in his arduous duties.

For about 35 years Miss Angeline

Paldi has lived on her beautiful farm several miles Southwest of Yale, improving and making it such a delightful spot that her friends loved to visit there. After about fourteen years of lawing, by a decision of the courts,

Miss Paldi was last week ejected from the home where she has lived so long and the property passes to her brother

Justin L. who has rented it to Capac parties. It seems almost as if a brother should drive his sister from the old homestead which has been regarded as her own so long a time.

Miss Paldi has taken up her residence in the village.

We are sorry to be obliged to announce this week that the flour mill of S. O. Welch & Son, one of our leading industries, will be shut down on Monday next for the summer months.

We feel that one reason for this move is the lack of proper patronage from our merchants, townspeople and farmers. Numerous grades and varieties of cheap flour are brought into our stores and sold out to consumers regardless of the first-class roller process mill we have in our midst, which, making the best grades of flour, cannot compete without loss. And this loss is as much to the whole town as to the firm.

Employment is lost to several men. It is likely we shall lose a family or two.

"Employment is of more value than mere cheapness." How true that is but we do not stop to think of it.

"Employment means wages; wages mean money; money means power of buying. Want of employment means no wages, no money, no buying." Then where the farmer goes to mill, there he generally does his trading. Where the inducements from a good mill in town are offered to farmers, there will they take their grists and leave their money in the several stores at the same place. We regret that our people have not seen the necessity of helping to sustain this business, but the mischief is done and this large mill will lie idle until the first of September unless it is rented which

Mr. Welch says he will do and offers $100 to anyone who will keep it up in good shape and employ as competent men as he has done. We hope there will be some one who will close with this generous offer that the machinery of the Star mill may still be kept running until Mr. Welch may feel like taking hold of it again himself.

English Literature.

b Who constituted the Lake school?

c Name the distinguished writers of the Elizabethan period.

ANSWERS.

a Asia.

b The "Blue Books" are the books in which the English government, or ministry, places before the Parliament and the country documents, reports, and official statements of its position in regard to important matters.

c These treaties are entered into by practically all civilized countries to prevent persons, guilty or accused of crime, escaping punishment by going from the country where their crime took place beyond its territorial limits which confine the jurisdiction of its laws and police. The treaties define the crimes coming under the agreement and arrange the details of
